REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT FOR 1943

Another year of this devastating global war has passed since my last report to you. All restricting acts and executive orders that are put into force are changing the character of the fabric of our economy and depriving the individual more and more of his freedom of action. All of this is reflected in our everyday surroundings, but it must be brought home to each of us that this herculean war effort should transcend all other efforts.

In the past I have referred to horticulture as being a refinement of agriculture, which is the basic husbandry upon which all forms of economy are built. Saying it simply, husbandry is nothing but the economy of the home and it is out of the many homes that community life exists and national economy is built.

As I look over our record for the past year, there are three outstanding things that took place:

1. The promotion of the Victory Garden effort in which we played an important part in our course of lectures, general instructions, and finally, the splendid Victory Garden Harvest Show which took place on the Parkway at Sixteenth Street on September 15 and 16. This was given in co-operation with the City of Philadelphia, was free to the public, and was well attended.

2. The co-operation of the Society with the "Friends of the Land" in a Conservation Forum held on November 17, at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. This was an all day meeting attended by approximately one thousand people. It should have a profound influence in calling to the attention of city dwellers the fact that conservation of our soil resources and better farming practices are as important to them as they are to the farmers and country people.
3. The establishment of a Committee to act in an advisory capacity to the Board of Education of Philadelphia in the initiation of a broad curriculum for agriculture and horticulture.

I should like to express my appreciation and thanks to the Chairman of the various Committees for the successful handling of their budgets, and to the Secretary and to the office staff for their work in the Harvest Show and the other activities.

C. FREDERICK C. STOUT,

President.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY FOR 1943

I shall review briefly your Society's 1943 activities. For greater detail, please refer to reports of the various Committees.

Greater emphasis than usual was placed upon the lecture program. In all, twenty-two lectures were presented. Due to the growing interest in and need for Victory Gardens, we wished to provide practical assistance to our members in planning and planting their vegetable gardens. Authoritative talks on the subject seemed the best way to do it. We therefore included nine lectures on vegetables in our lecture program, and secured the person we considered the best qualified to present them—Mr. John A. Andrew, Jr., of the faculty of the School of Horticulture, Ambler. In order to accommodate our men members who complained that they could not come to day-time lectures, three of the lectures were given in the evening. I am glad to say that Mr. Andrew will come to us again, in the early spring of 1944, with nine more vegetable lectures.

To supplement the vegetable lectures, we added five demonstrated talks on the home preservation of food. For this excellent series, we are indebted to the Pennsylvania State College, whose Philadelphia County Representative of the Home Economics Department, Miss Lila Lee Riddell, planned and conducted the talks, and to the Philadelphia Inter-State Dairy Council who kindly lent us their auditorium and kitchen for four of the lectures and demonstrations.

The Pennsylvania State College also co-operated with us by supplying us with bulletins on timely subjects. Through the Extension Agents of the College we sent 800 circulars to members on home canning of fruits and vegetables, 460 leaflets on storing vegetables, and smaller numbers of bulletins on similar practical subjects.

The annual luncheon of the Society was held on April 8, at the Bellevue-Stratford, under the Chairmanship of Mrs. J. Norman Henry. It was attended by 235 members, a rather surprising number in these days when so many pressing activities are asserting their claims. Mr. Francis Flood, of Washington, who told us about British food gardens and Dr. Edgar T. Wherry, who gave an illustrated talk on native plants, were the principal speakers.

On April 20, we co-operated with the Garden Club Federation in presenting two lectures on Contemporary Flower Arrangement.

The series of Garden Visits was planned with accessibility as the prime consideration. On Saturday, May 8, six gardens were visited in Chestnut Hill—a group which could be reached by railroad or street car; on the following Tuesday, seven small gardens in the center of the city and a large garden in West Philadelphia were open to the members; on Saturday, May 15, a pruning demonstration was conducted on the campus of Swarthmore College, followed by a tour of the plantings of the Scott Foundation on the campus; and on Saturday, May 22, members were invited to visit the gardens of the School of Horticulture, and the School, itself, at Ambler. In addition to the regular program of visits, Mr. Stout, our President, opened his garden in Ardmore to members on two Sunday afternoons—the first, when spring flowering trees and shrubs were at their height, and later when Roses were in bloom. The Secretary's garden, in Germantown, was open when Tree Peonies were in flower.

The Library this year had a smaller number of visitors than in former years. However, we believe this is a natural result of the War. We have acquired a large number of vegetable books and they are kept together in the reading-room for the ready use of readers. Mrs. J. Norman Henry, Chairman of the Library Committee, is trying very hard to build the Library into a permanent institution of lasting value. She has been most generous in giving the fees from her lectures and from the sale of her plants to the Library, so that rare books may be purchased.

During the early summer, your Society was asked to provide a border and entrance planting for the U.S.O. Pavilion for service men on Rayburn Plaza. The planting was provided within two days, and with its red Geraniums, small evergreen shrubs and Coleus plants, was very effective for the opening on July 4. However, it soon succumbed to the rough treatment it received.

A very successful Victory Garden Harvest Show was conducted by the Society, with the co-operation of the City of Philadelphia, in a big tent at 16th Street and the Parkway on September 15 and 16. Much of the credit belongs to our Field Secretary, Miss Wertsner, who worked very hard to secure excellent advance publicity, to persuade exhibitors to take part, to stage the Show to the best advantage and to direct it.

Miss Wertsner's services as horticultural consultant and as a speaker on gardening subjects have been in as great demand as ever this past year. Traveling difficulties have made it impossible for her to undertake any long trips. She gave a group of three talks on practical subjects before our Society in November and December just past. These lectures, like the other talks of which the Society was the sole sponsor, were free to members—and all but one were open to members' friends, without charge.

Instead of holding the usual Annual Meeting, your Society accepted an invitation to co-operate with "Friends of the Land" in an all-day Conservation Forum on November 17. A luncheon, attended by 198 members of the two organizations was sponsored by the Society in connection with the meeting. An excellent program was presented, for which the credit is entirely due to "Friends of the Land." The attendance was large—about 600 in the morning, and approximately 800 in the afternoon. (A similar Forum was held in February, 1943, to which our members were invited but in which the Society did not actually co-operate. Mr. Louis Bromfield was a featured speaker at the two Forums.)

In order partly to take the place of the Annual Meeting, an illustrated lecture, entitled "A Review of 1943—in Color" was presented jointly by Miss Wertsner and the Secretary on December 14. The Kodachrome slides used to illustrate the lecture were made from photographs taken by Miss Wertsner, and are part of a collection which is being formed by the Society for the use of its speakers.

We have had 1724 visitors to our quarters during the year, of which number 738 came particularly to the Library. Fifty-two meetings were held in our rooms, eleven by our own Committees and Executive Council, and forty-one by committees and boards of organizations whose interests are similar to our own.

We again show a loss in membership figures. In addition to resignations, the number of deaths was unusually large. Of these we must at least call attention to: W. Hinckle Smith (January 28), a member of the Executive Council since 1920; Adolf Muller (July 30), nurseryman of Norristown, famous for his work in popularizing our native Dogwood trees; Dr. C. Stuart Gager (August 9), internationally known botanist and Director of the Brooklyn Botanic Garden; Dr. John M. Macfarlane (September 16), whose botanical work at the University of Pennsylvania was recognized the world over; and J. Liddon Pennock, a leading florist of Philadelphia, and R. Marion Hatton, of Harrisburg, well-known rosarian, whose deaths occurred on October 16.

A summary of the membership record for the year is as follows:

REPORT OF THE LIBRARY COMMITTEE FOR 1943

Our fathers and forefathers struggled for freedom and afterwards when freedom came, they struggled for culture, scientific knowledge and intellectual pursuits.

Horticulture is an integral part of each of the above basic vocations. We must measure up to the ideals of our forebears. Let us maintain our freedom and advantages of culture. More than ever before we gardeners must do our part. We need help in order that we may make the most of every busy hour. Let the books in our Library give you the assistance you need. We have 5600 books at your disposal and in addition hundreds of useful magazines.

We would like to welcome every member of The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society to the Library during the coming year.

The Library records show that 250 books were added this year; there were 739 visitors to the Library; and 425 books were circulated among the members.

We wish to express our sincere gratitude to the following donors of books: Mr. Daniel J. Foley, Mr. John Gill, Mrs. William R. Mercer, Mr. John T. McNeill, Mr. W. G. Nice, Dr. Francis W. Pennell, Mrs. Arthur Hoyt Scott, Mr. William J. Serrill, Mr. C. Frederick C. Stout, Dr. Edgar T. Wherry, Mr. John C. Wister and the Massachusetts Horticultural Society.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY G. HENRY, Chairman.

REPORT OF LECTURE COMMITTEE FOR 1943

The lecture season in 1943 began with an illustrated lecture by Miss Wertsner, showing various types of flower arrangement, on January 8. This was the concluding lecture of a course on "Flower Arrangement in War-Time," which started the preceding November. The lecture was attended by 87 members and guests.

Three lectures in the regular series of afternoon lectures were presented on Wednesdays as follows:

- January 13—"Herbs," Henry Beston.
- February 10—"Peru," B. Y. Morrison.
- March 10—"The Modern Garden's Legacy from the Past," (Illustrated) Harold D. Eberlein.

The attendance varied between 100 and 130 at these lectures.

A successful series of six lectures on Vegetables was presented by John A. Andrew, Jr., School of Horticulture, Ambler, on Monday mornings as follows:

- January 18—"The Soil, Fertilizer, and Other Requirements of Vegetables."
- January 25—"Planning the Home Vegetable Garden."
- February 1—"Planting the Home Vegetable Garden."
- February 8—"Cropping Systems and Cultural Practices in the Vegetable Garden."
- February 15—"The Control of Insects and Diseases."
- March 1—"Harvesting and Storing Vegetables."

The attendance at the series averaged 194 for each lecture.

For the benefit of those who could not attend daytime lectures, three evening lectures were presented by Mr. Andrew on Tuesdays, February 23, March 2, and March 9. In the evening lectures, Mr. Andrew condensed the material he had used for the morning course. The average attendance was 157. The Committee has heard very favorable comments about these practical lectures, and is pleased to announce that Mr. Andrew will present similar courses before the Society this coming spring.

In order further to help our Victory Garden members, five lectures on home canning were arranged, through the kind co-operation and under the direction of Miss Lila Lee Riddell, Philadelphia County Extension Representative of the Home Economics Department of The Pennsylvania State College, as follows:

- March 18—"The Home-maker Evaluates Food Preservation." Miss Lydia Tarrant.
- June 9—"Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables," Miss Tarrant (Morning and afternoon).
- June 22—"Home Canning." Mrs. Eckenrode. (Morning.)
"Home Drying, and Salting or Brining Vegetables." Mrs. Eckenrode. (Afternoon.)

The lectures, which were demonstrated, were presented in the auditorium and kitchen of the Philadelphia Inter-State Dairy Council.

We are indebted to the Council for their kindness in permitting us to use their facilities without charge.

The fall season of 1943 began with a series of three practical gardening lectures by Miss Wertsner as follows:

November 23—"The Flower Border in War-Time." (See abstract on page 29.)

November 30—"Soil—its Preparation and Care."

December 7—"Propagation of Plants."

The series had an average attendance of 35.

Miss Wertsner and the Secretary presented a joint lecture, attended by 108 members, on December 14—"Review of 1943 - in Color." (Illustrated with Kodachrome slides.)

On April 20, your Society co-operated with the Garden Club Federation of Pennsylvania, in presenting two lectures on "Contemporary Flower Arrangement." Mrs. Magnus Norstad, of Valhalla, New York, was the speaker and demonstrated her talk with flower arrangements shown in pottery containers—designed and made by her and her husband. There was a charge of $2.50 for the two lectures, or $1.50 for a single lecture, to members and non-members alike. There was a slight deficit after all expenses were paid. Those who attended the lectures enjoyed them.

All lectures, with the exception of the four demonstrated lectures on canning noted above, were given in the auditorium of the Insurance Company of North America Building, 1600 Arch Street, Philadelphia. The lectures were free to members, with the exception of the two on April 20, in which the Society co-operated with the Garden Club Federation.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN C. WISTER,

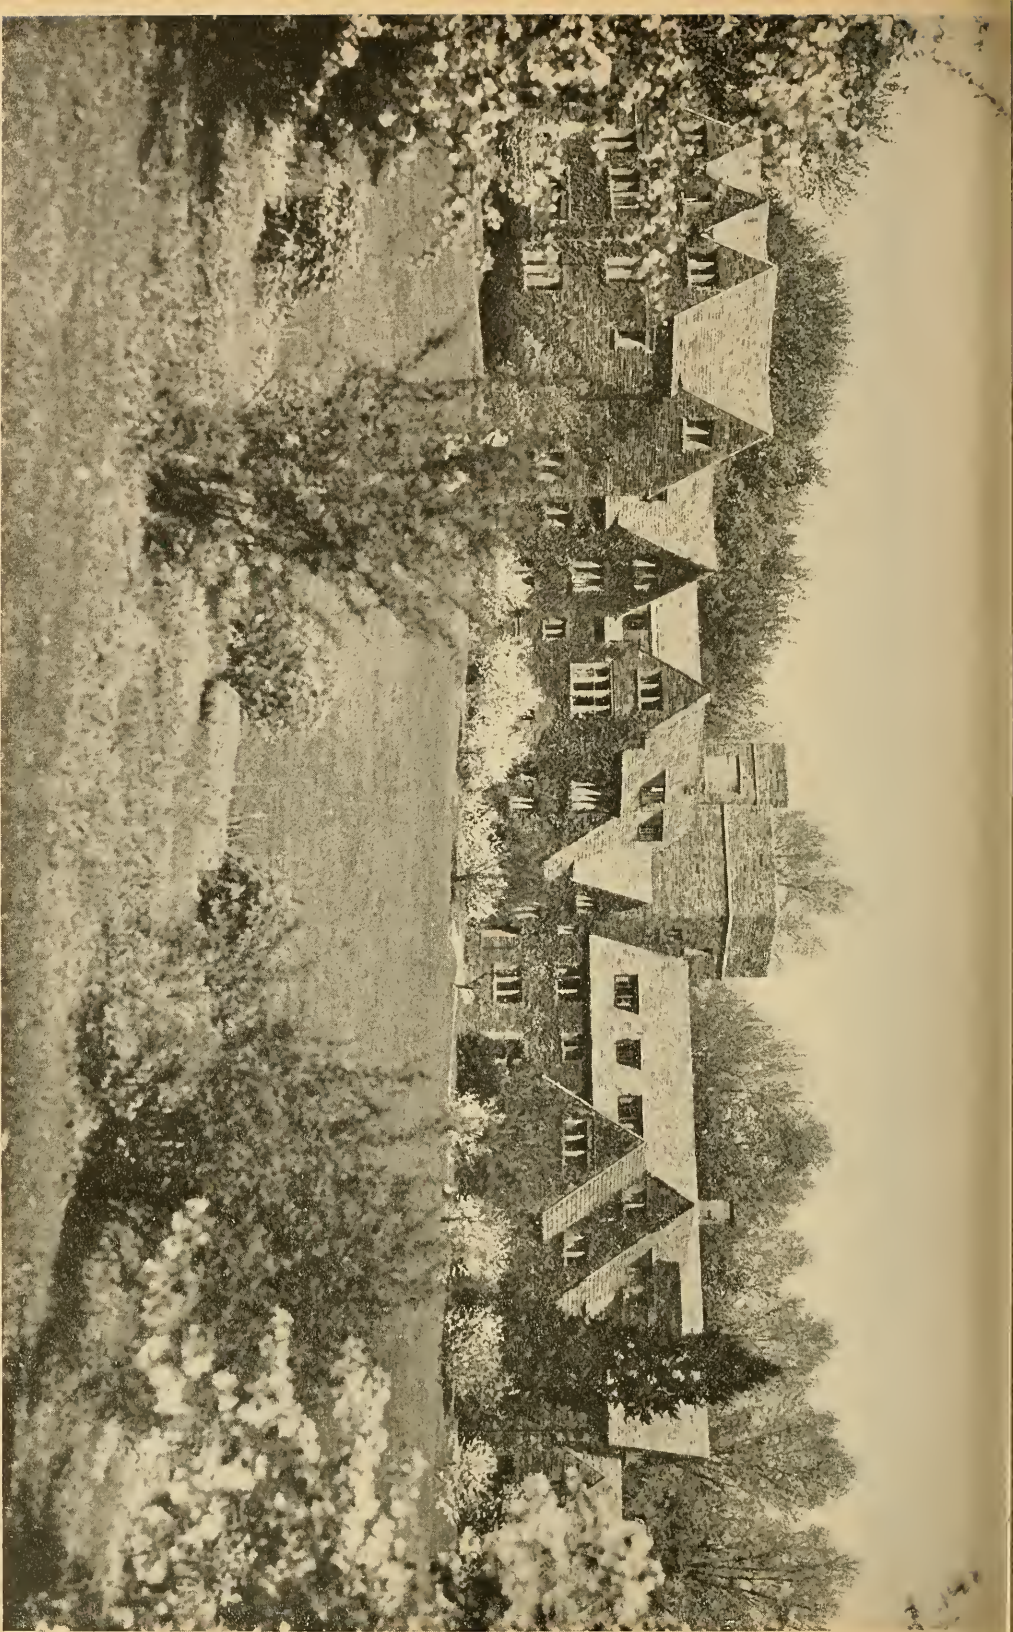

Chairman.

GARDEN VISITS, 1943

On account of gasoline rationing, the program of "Garden Visits" in 1943 had to be considered carefully from the point of view of accessibility of gardens by public conveyance. In order to meet the situation, seven gardens in Chestnut Hill, near each other and also near the street car and railroad, were selected for the first Saturday and a group of eight gardens in the center of Philadelphia were chosen on the second afternoon. On each of the other afternoons, one large garden in the suburban area, near a railroad station, was opened.

There was no charge to members at any of the gardens, and the friends of members were welcome without charge except at the central city afternoon, when the gardens were opened through the courtesy of the Society of Little Gardens. On that occasion, guests of members were charged a fee of seventy-five cents for the afternoon. The proceeds, about $50.00, were turned over to the Society of Little Gardens for their war-time work in the garden at the United Seamen's Service, Inc., 321 S. Fourth Street.

Attendance at the gardens was smaller than in former years. This was due somewhat to the bad weather on most of the days but probably the main reason was the difficulty in driving private cars. The highest attendance for the series was at the group of gardens in the central city where the average attendance was 153, and the lowest was on a rainy afternoon in the country when only 36 persons were recorded.

The program of visits was as follows:

Saturday, May 8—Chestnut Hill

Mr. and Mrs. Huston B. Almond, 30 Benezet Street.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Beaumont Whitney, 36 West Willow Grove Avenue.
Mrs. Margaret D. Allen, 8003 Crefeld Street.
Major and Mrs. Morris H. Merritt, 113 West Willow Grove Avenue.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Griffin Gribbel, 401 West Mermaid Lane.
Dr. and Mrs. George Woodward, McCallum Street above Allen Lane.

Tuesday, May 11—Central City and West Philadelphia

Mrs. W. R. Morton Keast, 1928 Rittenhouse Street.
Mrs. Albert E. Turner, 1907 Panama Street.
Mrs. George E. Raiguel, 1909 Panama Street.

REPORT OF EXHIBITION COMMITTEE FOR 1943

Your Exhibition Committee concentrated its efforts in 1943 on one Show—the Victory Garden Harvest Show, presented on September 15 and 16, in a tent along the Parkway, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth Streets. We were fortunate in having the co-operation of the City of Philadelphia, as well as that of many important horticultural groups in presenting the exhibition. Mayor Samuel opened the affair. The Committee felt that the exhibition was a great success, and it is indebted to Miss Wertsner, Field Secretary, whose efforts were responsible, in large part, for the satisfactory results that were obtained.

The following account gives, I think, a very good picture of the Show. The article was written by Miss Eleanor David, a member of the committee in charge, for the Garden Club Federation of Pennsylvania, in whose "News Letter," for October, 1943, it appeared originally:

COUNTRY COMES TO TOWN

Corn and Beans Are on Parade

Like a typical county fair was the Victory Garden Harvest Show, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, in the very heart of Philadelphia—practically under William Penn's Hat—staged in a huge tent. The whole atmosphere of the Country Fair was there—the very uneven grass floor, the crowds, and even the stuffiness always found inside any tent.

The display of vegetables was certainly a credit to the Victory Gardeners. The judges were most enthusiastic in their praise of the gardeners. They expressed the opinion that the growers must have been especially attentive with hand watering through these weeks of drought to have obtained the excellent exhibits of lima beans, squash, and root crops displayed.

The exhibit by the Agricultural Extension Service of State College, Penna., followed up the next steps for the Victory Gardeners—that is, what to do with what you have grown. A complete and concise demonstration of drying, canning, and storing vegetables was there for their edification. The many exhibits of already canned fruits, vegetables, etc., showed that the slogan—"Eat what you can and can what you can't," has already been practiced. One class calling for a quart jar of vegetables had twenty-five entries!

Another touch of the Country Fair was found in the exhibit set up by the Prison Farm. They used bales of straw to enclose their booth and to serve as counters for their display of vegetables.

Once again the National Association of Gardeners outdid themselves with their intricate mosaic carpet of vegetables set in kale and enclosed in a white picket fence.

The whole effect was certainly an inspiration to grow bigger and better crops in the coming year.

ELEANOR W. DAVID.

We were disappointed, of course, that the Philadelphia Flower Show had to be omitted last March, but on account of difficulties in transporting material for an elaborate exhibition and in securing labor to stage it, the committee in charge felt that it was impossible to go ahead. In addition, Commercial Hall, the home of the Show for many years, was not available

Your Committee plans to present another Harvest Show in 1944, but has not made a definite decision at this time about other seasonal shows. The committee in charge of the Philadelphia Flower Show informs us that the Show must be omitted again this coming March.

Respectfully submitted,

HAROLD GRAHAM,

Chairman.

REPORT OF THE EXTENSION COMMITTEE FOR 1943

It is with great pride that I submit the subjoined report of the Field Secretary for the current calendar year. Her work, the details of which are succinctly stated, has been definitely worth while even under the handicap of restricted transportation and audiences limited by war conditions. It is therefore not less but rather more credit that should be paid to Miss Wertsner's work, that under these circumstances she has held up horticulture, and indeed scored real advances, as detailed, in suiting the garden, as it were, to the war.

Report of Field Secretary, January 1, 1943, to December 31, 1943

Our Society and the Garden Clubs are being challenged as never before and have proven their important role in these distressing times. Their leadership in Victory Garden work alone has been responsible for much of the success of the past season's work. The cut flowers and arrangements sent to the many hospitals have evidenced the fact that lectures and experience along the growing and aesthetic lines have not been in vain. The Red Cross, no doubt, appreciated the aesthetic value of flowers when they included in their course for the Gray Ladies a lecture on Flower Arrangement.

Gardens are being maintained for the purpose of morale—in some sections near large hospitals so that recuperating soldiers may have the opportunity of visiting them. The persistent, diligent work of the women who are assisting with camp and hospital vegetable and flower gardens, making and teaching the art of making flower and Christmas decorations, and the additional work being done along these lines in the schools and communities show that the value of these things as morale builders are catching hold and gaining momentum.

The foregoing, I believe, will throw some light on what much of the horticultural advice and lectures given this year may have covered. Because the need for vegetables has been so much stressed, probably the greater number of inquiries pertained to the growing of vegetables and the control of insect pests. However, there were others concerning lawns, winter injury of trees, etc., and identification of plants. Some of the lesser known plants identified were: Leycesteria formosana, Tricyrtis hirta, Hymenaea Courbaril, Baccharis and Ostrowskia magnifica.

Lectures were fewer than in other years due to present conditions which necessitated the clubs holding fewer meetings and thus requiring fewer lecturers. Various subjects were covered in 42 lectures. Twelve were given on Flower Arrangements, eight on Vegetables and four on Christmas Decorations.

Traveling was much curtailed but lectures were given in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and New York.

The Outdoor Victory Garden Harvest Show, which was held in a large tent in the center of town, proved a great success and never have we had such good publicity and co-operation from our Philadelphia newspapers.

Interesting meetings that were attended at Cornell, New York, and the New Haven Agricultural Experiment Station, Conn., helped to keep me informed and up to date with horticultural information.

This fall I was appointed Central Atlantic Regional Chairman of Judging Schools and Flower Shows for the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc.

The January issue of "Farm Journal" and the December issue of "The Home Garden," used my Christmas decoration ideas and pictures furnished by the Society.

The statistics which follow give a comprehensive picture of my work for 1943.

THE FLOWER BORDER IN WAR-TIME

Abstract of Lecture of November 23, 1943

By ANNE B. WERTSNER, Field Secretary

There is a distinct difference between the war-time and the peace-time flower border. We have less time to work in it; we have poorer materials (sprays, fertilizers, tools, etc.) with which to work and expect efficiency; we are planting vegetables among perennials in some cases; we have to eliminate the "fussy" plants or those that require special care and extra time, which probably means we do not have quite the variety we have had in the past.

The small property owner has a limited amount of growing space and often had an established flower border. Rather than discard the perennials, they have been allowed to remain and vegetables have been planted in spaces formerly left for annuals.

If, however, the border is not established and a new one is to be made, then the site should be considered. It should be open and sunny and away from large trees. Small trees and shrubs may be used in the border but it must be remembered that most annuals and perennials and vegetables require full sunlight in order to be healthy and strong.

After the site has been selected, the soil should be thoroughly prepared in the proper way. Today there is much discussion as to what is the proper way. Until the new methods are proven to be as satisfactory as the old it may be well to mention only the methods well known and tried. These are double digging and trenching. Double digging is satisfactory for the garden of annuals or shallow rooted plants, but for permanent borders or most perennials, trenching is far superior. In order to trench the top and sub-soil are removed and organic material of some kind (manure, leaves, straw, etc.) is dug in below the sub-soil. Horse manure is a hot, dry manure which warms up the land so is excellent for heavy, cold clayey soils. Cow manure is a cold manure, rich in the elements which go to make plant food; it is wet, and therefore is first class for light to medium loams. Pig and goat manure are not unlike cow manure, rich and strong, rather cold. If dug in beneath the sub-soil the manure does not have to be well decayed. Following the digging the sub-soil and the top soil are replaced in their proper places. It is important not to mix them. By loosening up the soil in this way more air will be able to penetrate it and more water will be held by the soil particles. The roots of plants will penetrate to a greater depth and plants will be better able to withstand droughts. With a more vigorous root system the plants will be stronger and less likely to suffer from diseases and attacks of insects. Allowing proper distances between plants also insures healthier plants because of freer air circulation around them.

A plan is as essential to the making of a successful garden as it is to the builder of a house. If carefully made on paper many mistakes may be corrected or avoided before actually getting the plants into the ground. A plan enables you to order the correct quantity of seeds and plants, thereby preventing waste. It allows time for study of succession of bloom, height, form, color and texture of all plants. Once a plan is made a record is created showing bulb areas and places to be filled with annuals, biennials, or vegetables. By recording plantings each year, rotation of crops may be made if necessary. This, of course, is quite important in the vegetable garden.

A factor of great importance in creating a permanently full and beautiful effect in the border is the wise choice of material. Plants may include annuals, biennials, perennials, bulbs, small trees and shrubs. Only those that are the hardiest and best suited to existing conditions should be used. Those that give best service in bloom and have superior lasting foliage should be given greatest prominence. One may find at least one good plant for each season in helping to create the backbone of the garden. Among these we have bulbs for spring, such as Tulips and Daffodils,—not Scillas and Chionodoxa and such small bulbs that bloom so early that there are vast areas of earth exposed and little bloom for the space required. Then to follow there are Iris, Peonies, Daylilies, Phlox and Chrysanthemums.

If these main plants are planted in large groups, drifts or bays, the border will appear to have continuing and such planting strengthens the design and gives a permanently pleasing appearance. Other plants and smaller groups may be worked in among them.

The front of the border, often much neglected, is dependent for permanent freshness and beauty on dwarf plants that tend to cover the soil and possess lasting foliage, such as Dianthus, Iberis, Heuchera, Santolina, etc. Those that can be depended upon for foliage in other parts of the border are Iris, Daylilies, Thalictrum, Yucca, Bocconia, Funkia, Galega, etc. Those that have poor foliage are Anchusa, Pentstemon barbatus, Delphinium, etc. Select the plants with the viewpoint of an artist and not a collector and then truly beautiful pictures will be created.

Variety in form and texture is definitely wanted because these contrasts make the garden more interesting. The fine foliage of the Columbine is quite a contrast to the profusion of heavy foliage of the Peony or the sword-like foliage of the Iris. The numerous forms among flowers must also be considered. The spike-like flowers of the Foxgloves and Delphinium are quite a contrast to the round heads of Peonies, the mass of flowers of the Phlox and Veronica or the drifts of Baby's Breath.

Plant distribution in the garden is determined by the form. Those plants of a spreading nature, possessing such a size and shape as to appear distinctive individually, may be placed singly. These include Peonies, Bleeding Heart, Buddleia, Oriental Poppies, etc. Contrast in form either in foliage, flower or habit of growth is, in general, highly desirable. The final characteristic of plants affecting their distribution in the garden is color of foliage and flowers. Color balance must be maintained and pleasing color schemes or interesting contrasts may be planned. I remember the vivid colors in the long herbaceous border in the garden of the late Gertrude Jekyll—practically every color in the spectrum was there, but beautifully blended with pleasing transitions. As the garden was carefully analyzed, there appeared among the plants with brilliant flowers many gray foliated plants such as Stachys, Artemisia, Lavender, Santolina, etc. These softened the whole effect and made possible the use of colors next to each other which otherwise would have clashed.

Now that vegetables are being used in borders today, new rich and vivid colors in foliage are added. Group plantings may be made of Spinach, Radishes, Beets, Lettuce and Mustard Greens. Peppers, Tampala and Tomatoes may be planted individually. (It should be remembered that Petunias and Nicotiana carry a virus disease that infects Tomatoes and causes them to be non-productive so these should not be planted near Tomatoes.)

In this locality Lettuce, Spinach, Radishes and Parsley may be planted out about mid March, Beets and Chard in April and May and Tomatoes, Tampala and Peppers in June.

In order to maintain the border we must know something of the general care. We should know that a winter mulch of salt hay, buckwheat hulls, etc., is desirable after the ground freezes. This helps to prevent alternate freezing and thawing which is harmful to plants and likely to cause winter kill. Sand or coarse coal ashes are satisfactory for mulching the crowns of Delphinium which should be kept dry. Leaves would hold water and not permit good drainage so should not be used.

As spring approaches the mulch should be removed gradually. In some sections it is safe to have it all removed by April and in other places it may be better to wait until May. As the mulch is removed all dead tops of plants should be cut off and any that have heaved out of the soil should be replanted firmly. Such plants as summer flowering Phlox and Chrysanthemums should be divided and replanted each year. The reason for this is they are strong feeders and small healthy plants will be more productive than large old ones.

By the time the mulch is entirely removed the first application of a complete fertilizer may be made. The 1944 fertilizer situation looks brighter than it did in 1943 and gardeners will be allowed a 5-10-5 mixture instead of a 3-8-7. A dressing of three to four pounds per 100 square feet when the bulbs and perennials are about three inches high will greatly benefit the plants. A second application may be made six to eight weeks later and a third about mid August.

The spring, summer and fall work include staking, removing dead blossoms, cultivating, mulching in the summer to conserve soil moisture and also watering when necessary. Spraying and dusting must be done to control insect pests and diseases but we are less likely to be troubled with these if we have healthy plants properly spaced and staked. (The situation of the most popular insecticide, Rotenone, is better for 1944 than it was in 1943. We are to receive two-thirds of the normal shipments, because South American production is increasing and the shipping situation has improved).

With the close of the season, dead tops of perennials should be cut off. Those free from disease should be put on the compost pile and others such as Peonies, Aconitum, Delphinium and Hollyhocks, which are apt to be diseased, should be burned.

Tools should be cleaned, oiled, and wooden handles painted, stakes should be gathered and cleaned and all stored for another year.
